

Not only does the First Amendment to the Constitution guaranty freedom of expression and speech which should protect the ability of satellite to deliver content such as local weather and traffic, but old technologies should not be allowed for purely anticompetitive reasons to stifle new, more effective technologies. I urge the FTC and any other agencies and regulatory bodies to protect the growth of this new technology by rejecting the complaints put forth by the National Association of Broadcasters.